

CURATORS INITIAL ENQUIRY information

BACKGROUND

Thank you for your interest in proposing a project for the Goat Major Projects space. GMP came into physical being in April 2012 with the intention to create a 'cuckoo' space for curators to engage with a modest bespoke white cube space. The scale of GMP is important as we feel it is somewhere where there is 'no place to hide' and the reduced distance between audience and work is important in developing a dialogue on curatorial practice, narratives shaping how the work is read and the practices of the artists. GMP's aim is to place the curator at the centre of the project as we develop critical engagement in contemporary art and artists through the framework of engagement they create.

GMP current configuration is a box within a room. There are 6 power points located out the space that can be discreetly adapted to power objects within the space. Adaption of the walls is subject to agreement with GMP as it may compromise the integrity of the entire structure but GMP realise it is important to accommodate ideas where possible. False walls have been built for previous exhibitions while the entrance opens out into a garden area with seats. The entrance can be adapted and reception space has been created in past exhibitions.
